Advisor - Financial Planning and Consulting Services

Clients engaging us in this capacity are primarily interested in consultative financial planning. You may utilize these services in either an as-needed or on-going basis. Financial planning will typically involve letting you choose specific issues you would like to discuss regarding the management of your financial resources. We will also perform an analysis of your individual needs in areas you may not specifically request help with, but we deem to be essential to your financial well-being. If you retain our firm for financial planning services, we will utilize our proprietary TRAIL[®] system in providing services to you. The steps to the trail system are outlined below:

T – Together - We begin by listening to your goals and objectives.

R – Review – We review where you are currently.

A – Analyze – We develop a plan.

I – Implement – We utilize the necessary tools to begin your plan.

L – Listen – We continue to listen to you and make changes to your plan as needed.

Financial plans and services are based on your financial situation at the time we provide the services to you, and on the financial information you provide to our firm. You must promptly notify our firm if your financial situation, goals, objectives, or needs change.

You are under no obligation to act on our financial planning recommendations. Should you choose to act on any of our recommendations, you are not obligated to implement the financial plan through any of our other investment advisory services. Moreover, you may act on our recommendations by placing securities transactions with any brokerage firm.

If you choose to act on our financial planning recommendations, we may, at our discretion, waive or offset the financial planning fees should you choose to implement the advice through our portfolio management services as described below. We reserve the right to determine whether the financial planning fees will be waived or offset by the fees earned in the implementation process. The scope and complexity of the services that were provided will determine the waiver or offset of the fee.

For those clients who wish to engage us on using the advisor platform, we charge an hourly fee of $500 for financial planning services, which is negotiable depending on the scope and complexity of the plan, your situation, and your financial objectives. An estimate of the total time/cost will be determined at the start of the advisory relationship. In limited circumstances, the cost/time could potentially exceed the initial estimate. In such cases, we will notify you and request that you approve the additional fee. Fees are due upon completion of services rendered.

You may terminate the financial planning agreement by providing written notice to our firm. You will incur a pro rata charge for services rendered prior to the termination of the agreement.

Foundations - Professional Investment Management

Some clients may wish to engage us solely for the purpose of professional investment management. Should you choose to engage us in this capacity, we will manage your portfolio according to established portfolio management techniques and principles. Further information on how we may manage your portfolio can be found in Item 8 of this document. Clients utilizing this option will have the ability to choose from among five objective based portfolios and must meet minimum investment requirements for each. We will manage each portfolio on a discretionary basis within the confines of an Investment Policy Statement and the Ambassador Account Program discussed below.

Ambassador Program

We provide a fee-based account (termed an "Ambassador" account) through RJA. Asset based fees are charged on these account assets. This allows clients to be provided with ongoing investment advice, asset allocation services and monitoring of securities holdings. There is a minimum account size of $25,000 for this account type, although we retain the right to waive the account minimum in certain circumstances. Our IARs will manage the account on a discretionary and non-discretionary basis according to the client's investment goals and objectives. The client is provided with quarterly portfolio summaries and performance analyses. This type of account can be utilized to buy, sell or otherwise trade stocks, bonds, mutual funds (at net asset value), exchange traded funds, options and preferred stocks. There are no transaction charges in Ambassador accounts. (See Item 5 below.)

Legacy - Coordinated Wealth Management Services

Other clients may be interested in engaging our firm for both consultative financial planning and professional investment management. If you choose to engage us in this capacity, you will receive ongoing customized advice that incorporates planning for multiple aspects of your financial life as well as professional portfolio management. Generally, for coordinated wealth management services, we require a minimum of $500,000 per household to establish the advisory relationship and provide ongoing management services. At our discretion, we may waive this minimum threshold. We will manage each portfolio on a non-discretionary basis within the parameters of an Investment Policy Statement and the Ambassador Account Program described below. We will also provide financial planning services to you as needed.

Regardless of which platform you choose, we will assist you in organizing your financial information and determining the scope of services that are most suitable for your specific financial situation and needs. These financial planning services can simplify and determine financial and investment alternatives by:

- Defining and narrowing a client's objectives and investment options
- Identifying areas of greatest concern
- Creating a unique picture of the client's overall financial situation
- Providing an effective and efficient way for us to address a client's unique financial needs and objectives

Recommendations are based on your financial situation at the time the plan is presented. Such services may include, but are not limited to, cash flow analysis, insurance evaluation, and preparation of investment policy statements, investment reviews, and estate planning. You will be advised that certain assumptions may be made with respect to interest and inflation rates, as well as past trends, historical market performance, and the economy. Past performance is in no way an indication of future results. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your financial goals and objectives will be met. As your financial situation, goals, objectives, or needs change, you must notify us promptly.

Upon completion of the initial evaluation, we will provide implementation services in the form of portfolio management. We may also work in conjunction with your other professional advisers, e.g. accounting or legal. Under such arrangements, we will act as a project manager that coordinates the work of the appropriate parties in a manner consistent with your stated objectives.

We provide portfolio management services where the investment advice provided is custom tailored to meet your needs and investment objectives. The firm will manage your account(s) on a non-discretionary basis. We provide continuous supervision and re-balancing of the portfolio as changes in market conditions and client circumstances may require.

Types of Investments

We primarily offer advice on equity securities, warrants, corporate debt securities, commercial paper, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, investment company securities, US Government securities, options contracts on securities, managed futures, commodities, and interest in partnerships investing in real estate, oil and gas interests.

Additionally, we may advise you on any type of investment that we deem appropriate based on your stated goals and objectives. We may also provide advice on any type of investment held in your portfolio at the inception of our advisory relationship. We may also provide investment advice with respect to coins, fine art, or other alternative investments. Further, we may assist you in the purchase of numismatic and bullion coins if requested. You may request that we refrain from investing in particular securities or certain types of securities.

IRA Rollover Recommendations

For purposes of complying with the DOL's Prohibited Transaction Exemption 2020-02 ("PTE 2020-02") where applicable, we are providing the following acknowledgment to you. When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and
- Give you basic information about conflicts of interest.

We benefit financially from the rollover of your assets from a retirement account to an account that we manage or provide investment advice, because the assets increase our assets under management and, in turn, our advisory fees. As a fiduciary, we only recommend a rollover when we believe it is in your best interest.

Assets Under Management

As of January 28, 2025, we provide continuous management services for $425,001,239 in client assets on a discretionary basis, and $128,947,014 in client assets on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

Please refer to the "Advisory Business" section in this Brochure for information on our advisory fees and refund policy according to each service we offer.

AMBASSADOR Program Fees

We offer the Ambassador accounts as investment advisory accounts administered by RJA, primarily on a discretionary basis. You will be provided with ongoing investment advice and monitoring of your securities holdings. Ambassador accounts will not have any transaction charges paid by the client. These charges will be considered to be part of the all-inclusive fee charged to the client account.

The advisory fees for Ambassador Accounts are as follows:

Assets Under Management	Annual Fee
Up to $5,000,000	1.00%
$5,000,001 - $10,000,000	0.75%
Over $10,000,000	0.50%

Fees are negotiable. The annual asset-based fee is paid quarterly in advance. When an account is opened, the asset-based fee is billed for the remainder of the current billing period and is based on the initial contribution. Thereafter, the quarterly asset-based fee is paid in advance, is based on the account asset value on the last business day of the previous calendar quarter and becomes due the following business day. Client authorizes and directs RJA as Custodian to deduct asset-based fees from the Client's account; Client further authorizes and directs the Custodian to send a quarterly statement to the Client which shows all amounts disbursed from Client's account, including fees paid to Allen Wealth Management, LLC. Client understands that the brokerage statement will show the amount of the asset-based fee.

For mutual funds that provide RJFS with a 12b-1 fee, that fee is credited to the client account as a fee offset. Such mutual fund related fees are paid only when provided in the mutual fund's prospectus. As a registered representative of RJFS, our IARs do not receive any part of these payments.

Mutual funds may, from time to time, direct trades through RJFS as consideration for the broker/dealer processing mutual fund transactions for you. You may also incur charges for other account services provided by RJFS not directly related to the execution and clearing of transactions. These include IRA custodial fees, safekeeping fees, interest charges on margin loans, and fees for legal or courtesy transfers of securities.

The annual advisory fees charged in the Ambassador programs are in addition to the management fees and operating expenses charged by open-end, closed-end and/or exchange traded funds. If you intend to hold fund shares for an extended period of time, it may be less expensive for you to purchase fund shares outside of these programs. You may be able to purchase mutual funds directly from the respective fund families without incurring our advisory fee.

Shares of certain mutual funds offered in these programs may impose short-term trading charges (typically 1% - 2% of the amount originally invested) for redemptions made within a short period of time. These short-term charges are imposed by the mutual funds (and not RJFS or AWM) to deter "market timers" who trade actively in the fund's shares. These charges, operating expenses and management fees may increase the overall cost to the client by 1%-2% (or more) and are detailed in each fund's prospectus.

ADMINISTRATIVE-ONLY ASSETS

Certain securities may be held in your Ambassador account and designated "Administrative-Only Investments". There are two primary categories of Administrative-Only Investments: Client-designated and Raymond James-designated. Client-designated Administrative-Only Investments may be designated by our firm should we decide not to collect an advisory fee on certain assets, while Raymond James-designated Administrative-Only Investments are designated by Raymond James in conformance with internal policy. For example, we may make an arrangement with a client that holds a security that we did not recommend or the client wishes to hold for an extended period of time and does not wish for us to sell for the foreseeable future. In such cases we may elect to waive the advisory fee on this security but allow it to be held in the client's advisory account – such designations fall into the Client-designated category. Alternatively, Raymond James may determine that certain securities may be held in an advisory account but are temporarily not eligible for the advisory fee (such as for mutual funds purchased with a front-end sales charge through Raymond James within the last two years, new issues and syndicate offerings). Assets designated by Raymond James as temporarily exempt from the advisory fee fall into the Raymond James-designated category.

PLEASE NOTE: Due to Department of Labor ("DOL") regulations, the designation of Client-designated Administrative-Only Investments and the maintenance of such positions in the client's account are not permissible in DOL-impacted retirement accounts (such as IRAs and employer sponsored retirement plans). The underlying premise of this prohibition is that the maintenance of assets in an advisory account that are not being assessed an advisory fee introduces a potential conflict that our advice may be biased as a result of us not being compensated on this asset. As a result, we may recommend a course of action in our and not the client's interest (such as selling the security to increase our compensation). Raymond James has elected to preserve the ability for clients and their financial advisors to designate assets as Client-designated Administrative-Only in their non-DOL impacted accounts in order to maintain client choice and avoid the need to maintain a separate account to hold these securities or cash. Nevertheless, while Raymond James cannot accommodate this level of flexibility in DOL-impacted retirement accounts, clients can choose to maintain securities or cash in their brokerage account that they do not wish to be assessed an advisory fee.

Administrative-Only Investments will not be included in the Account Value when calculating applicable asset-based advisory fee rates.

Billing on Cash Balances

Raymond James will assess advisory fees on cash sweep and foreign currency balances ("cash") held in Ambassador accounts. If the cash balance exceeds 20% of the Account Value as of the last business day of the quarter ("the valuation date") for three (3) consecutive quarterly valuation dates, the amount in excess of 20% is excluded from billing. For example, an Ambassador account that held 30% of the Account Value for three (3) consecutive billing valuation dates (March 31st, June 30th, and September 30th) would have the amount in excess of 20% excluded from the Account Value in which advisory fees are applied. For simplicity of illustration, assuming an account was valued at $100,000 for all three (3) quarterly billing periods, with $30,000 held in cash, the September 30th valuation date would exclude $10,000 of the cash from the Account Value when assessing the advisory fee.

This fee billing provision (or "Cash Rule") is intended to equitably assess advisory fees to client assets for which an ongoing advisory service is being provided; the exclusion of excess cash from the advisory fee is intended to benefit clients holding substantial cash balances (as a percentage of the total individual Account Value) for an extended period of time. Clients should understand that the portion of the account held in cash will experience negative performance if the applicable advisory fee charged is higher than the return received on the cash sweep balance.

The Cash Rule may pose a financial disincentive to a financial advisor as the portion of cash sweep balances in excess of 20% will be excluded from the asset based fee charged to the account. This may cause a financial advisor to reallocate a client account from cash to advisory fee eligible investments, including money market funds, or to recommend against raising cash, in order to avoid the application of this provision and therefore receive a fee on the full account value. Clients may direct their financial advisor to raise cash by selling investments or hold a predetermined percentage of their account in cash at any time. The Cash Rule is applicable only to cash sweep and foreign currency balances and, therefore, nonsweep money market funds would not result in excess "cash" balances being excluded from the asset based advisory fee calculation. Within the Ambassador accounts, the Cash Rule applies on an individual account basis. Your financial advisor may receive more compensation by not applying the Cash Rule at the household level and instead electing to do so at the account level.

Additional Fees and Expenses

As part of our investment advisory services to you, we may invest, or recommend that you invest, in mutual funds and exchange traded funds. The fees that you pay to our firm for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds or exchange traded funds (described in each fund's prospectus) to their shareholders. These fees will generally include a management fee and other fund expenses. You will also incur transaction charges and/or brokerage fees when purchasing or selling securities. These charges and fees are typically imposed by the broker-dealer or custodian through whom your account transactions are executed. We do not share in any portion of the brokerage fees/transaction charges imposed by the broker-dealer or custodian. To fully understand the total cost you will incur, you should review all the fees charged by mutual funds, exchange traded funds, our firm, and others. For information on our brokerage practices, please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section of this Disclosure Brochure.

Compensation for the Sale of Securities or Other Investment Products

As previously disclosed, certain persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm are registered representatives with RJFS, a securities broker-dealer, and a member FINRA/SIPC. In their capacity as registered representatives, these persons will receive commission-based compensation in connection with the purchase and sale of securities, including 12b-1 fees for the sale of investment company products. Compensation earned by these persons in their capacities as registered representatives is separate and in addition to our advisory fees.

This practice may present a conflict of interest because persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm who are registered representatives have an incentive to effect securities transactions for the purpose of generating commissions rather than solely based on your needs. However, you are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to purchase securities products through any person affiliated with our firm.

Persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm are licensed as independent insurance agents. These persons will earn commission-based compensation for selling insurance products, including insurance products they sell to you. Insurance commissions earned by these persons are separate and in addition to our advisory fees.

This practice may present a conflict of interest because persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm who are insurance agents have an incentive to recommend insurance products to you for the purpose of generating commissions rather than solely based on your needs. However, you are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to purchase insurance products through any person affiliated with our firm.

At our discretion, we may offset our advisory fees to the extent our Associated Persons earn commissions in their separate capacities as registered representatives and/or insurance agents.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not accept performance-based fees or participate in side-by-side management. Side-by-side management refers to the practice of managing accounts that are charged performance-based fees while at the same time managing accounts that are not charged performance-based fees. Performance-based fees are fees that are based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client's account. Our fees are calculated as described in the Advisory Business section above and are not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon, or capital appreciation of, the funds in your advisory account.

Item 7 Types of Clients

We offer investment advisory services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations, and other business entities.

If you engage us by using our Advisor platform, we will not require a minimum dollar amount to provide such services. If you wish to engage us by using the Foundations platform, we require a minimum investment of $5,000 depending on which Foundations portfolio strategy you wish to employ. Generally, for those looking to utilize our Legacy platform, we require a minimum of $500,000 per household to establish the advisory relationship and provide ongoing investment management services. At our discretion, we may waive this minimum threshold for those clients who do not qualify for our Legacy platform. For example, we may waive the minimum if you appear to have significant potential for increasing your assets under our management. We will combine ("household") account values for you and your minor children, joint accounts with your spouse, and other types of related accounts to meet the stated minimum.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our investment strategies and advice may vary depending upon each client's specific financial situation. As such, we determine investments and allocations based upon your predefined objectives, risk tolerance, time horizon, financial horizon, financial information, liquidity needs, and other various suitability factors. Your restrictions and guidelines may affect the composition of your portfolio.

Investment Strategies

We may use one or more of the following investment strategies when formulating investment advice:

- Charting Analysis - involves the gathering and processing of price and volume information for a particular security. This price and volume information is analyzed using mathematical equations. The resulting data is then applied to graphing charts, which is used to predict future price movements based on price patterns and trends.
- Fundamental Analysis - involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry. The resulting data is used to measure the true value of the company's stock compared to the current market value.
- Technical Analysis - involves studying past price patterns and trends in the financial markets to predict the direction of both the overall market and specific stocks.
- Cyclical Analysis - a type of technical analysis that involves evaluating recurring price patterns and trends.

Additional Risks

Charting and Technical Analysis - The risk of market timing based on technical analysis is that charts may not accurately predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may reflect all information known about the security and day to day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy.

Fundamental Analysis - The risk of fundamental analysis is that information obtained may be incorrect and the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for a stock's value. If securities prices adjust rapidly to new information, utilizing fundamental analysis may not result in favorable performance.

Cyclical Analysis - Economic/business cycles may not be predictable and may have many fluctuations between long term expansions and contractions. The lengths of economic cycles may be difficult to predict with accuracy and therefore the risk of cyclical analysis is the difficulty in predicting economic trends and consequently the changing value of securities that would be affected by these changing trends.

Methods of Analysis

We may use one or more of the following methods of analysis when providing investment advice to you:

- Long Term Purchases - securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.
- Short Term Purchases - securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short-term price fluctuations.

- Short Sales - a securities transaction in which an investor sells securities he or she borrowed in anticipation of a price decline. The investor is then required to return an equal number of shares at some point in the future. A short seller will profit if the stock goes down in price.
- Margin Transactions - a securities transaction in which an investor borrows money to purchase a security, in which case the security serves as collateral on the loan.
- Option Writing - a securities transaction that involves selling an option. An option is the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell a particular security at a specified price before the expiration date of the option. When an investor sells an option, he or she must deliver to the buyer a specified number of shares if the buyer exercises the option. The seller pays the buyer a premium (the market price of the option at a particular time) in exchange for writing the option.

We may use trading (in general, selling securities within 30 days of purchasing the same securities) as an investment strategy when managing your account(s). Trading is not a fundamental part of our overall investment strategy, but we may use this strategy occasionally when we determine that it is suitable given your stated investment objectives and tolerance for risk.

Tax Considerations

Our strategies and investments may have unique and significant tax implications. However, unless we specifically agree otherwise, and in writing, tax efficiency is not our primary consideration in the management of your assets. Regardless of your account size or any other factors, we strongly recommend that you continuously consult with a tax professional prior to and throughout the investing of your assets.

Moreover, as a result of revised IRS regulations, custodians and broker-dealers began reporting the cost basis of equities acquired in client accounts on or after January 1, 2011. Our firm or the TPA will elect the particular method on a client by client and transaction basis. If you do not provide us with your instructions, then the custodian or the TPA will default to the First In First Out ('FIFO') method.

You are responsible for contacting your tax advisor to determine if this accounting method is the right choice for you. If your tax advisor believes another accounting method is more advantageous, please provide written notice to our firm immediately and we will alert your account custodian of your individually selected accounting method. Please note that decisions about cost basis accounting methods will need to be made before trades settle, as the cost basis method cannot be changed after settlement.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. We do not represent or guarantee that our services or methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate clients from losses due to market corrections or declines. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your financial goals and objectives will be met. Past performance is in no way an indication of future performance.

Recommendation of Particular Types of Securities

As disclosed under the "Advisory Business" section in this Brochure, we primarily recommend the following types of securities: Mutual Funds, Exchange Traded Funds, Stocks and Bonds. You should be advised of the following risks when investing in these types of securities:

Mutual funds and exchange traded funds are professionally managed collective investment systems that pool money from many investors and invest in stocks, bonds, short-term money market instruments, other mutual funds, other securities or any combination thereof. The fund will have a manager that trades the fund's investments in accordance with the fund's investment objective. While mutual funds and ETFs generally provide diversification, risks can be significantly increased if the fund is concentrated in a particular sector of the market, primarily invests in small cap or speculative companies, uses leverage (i.e., borrows money) to a significant degree, or concentrates in a particular type of security (i.e., equities) rather than balancing the fund with different types of securities. Exchange traded funds differ from mutual funds since they can be bought and sold throughout the day like stock and their price can fluctuate throughout the day. The returns on mutual funds and ETFs can be reduced by the costs to manage the funds. Also, while some mutual funds are "no load" and charge no fee to buy into, or sell out of, the fund, other types of mutual funds do charge such fees which can also reduce returns. Mutual funds can also be "closed end" or "open end". So-called "open end" mutual funds continue to allow in new investors indefinitely, which can dilute other investors' interests.

There are numerous ways of measuring the risk of equity securities (also known simply as "equities" or "stock"). In very broad terms, the value of a stock depends on the financial health of the company issuing it. However, stock prices can be affected by many other factors including, but not limited to the class of stock (for example, preferred or common); the health of the market sector of the issuing company; and the overall health of the economy. In general, larger, better established companies ("large cap") tend to be safer than smaller start-up companies ("small cap") but the mere size of an issuer is not, by itself, an indicator of the safety of the investment.

Corporate debt securities (or "bonds") are typically safer investments than equity securities, but their risk can also vary widely based on the financial health of the issuer; the risk that the issuer might default; when the bond is set to mature; and, whether or not the bond can be "called" prior to maturity. When a bond is called, it may not be possible to replace it with a bond of equal character paying the same rate of return.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Allen Wealth Management LLC has been registered and providing investment advisory services since 2004. Neither our firm nor any of our associated persons has any reportable disciplinary information.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Registrations with Broker-Dealer

As discussed above, certain persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm are registered representatives with RJFS, a securities broker-dealer and member FINRA/SIPC.

Arrangements with Affiliated Entities

We are affiliated with Allen Financial Advisors ("AFA") through common control and ownership. Therefore, persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm are licensed as insurance agents. These persons will earn commission-based compensation for selling insurance products, including insurance products they sell to you. Insurance commissions earned by these persons are separate from our advisory fees. Please see the "Fees and Compensation" section in this Brochure for more information on the compensation received by insurance agents who are affiliated with our firm.

We are also affiliated with Allen CPA PLLC through common control and ownership. If you require accounting services, we will recommend that you use the services of our affiliate. Our advisory services are separate and distinct from the compensation paid to our affiliate for their services. This affiliated firm is otherwise regulated by the professional organizations to which it belongs and must comply with the rules of those organizations. These rules may prohibit paying or receiving referral fees to or from investment advisers that are not members of the same organization. Jonathan Allen, owner of our Company and Allen CPA, PLLC, also owns JAllen Professional Services, a company that provides certain professional services to Allen CPA PLLC.

These referral arrangements we have with our affiliated entities present a conflict of interest because we may have a financial incentive to recommend our affiliates' services. While we believe that compensation charged by our affiliates are competitive, such compensation may be higher than fees charged by other firms providing the same or similar services. You are under no obligation to use our affiliates' services and may obtain comparable services and/or lower fees through other firms.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Our Code of Ethics ("Code") is not exhaustive; it provides guidance for carrying out our daily responsibilities and observing the highest standards of ethical conduct in our business dealings. Because the Code does not address every possible situation that may arise, employees are responsible for exercising good judgment, applying ethical principles, and raising questions to the CCO when in doubt.

The framework of our Code of Ethics is built on five core values. These principles are general statements which express the ethical and professional ideals we expect all employees to exercise and strive for in their professional lives.

Principle 1 - Integrity

Principle 2 - Professionalism

Principle 3 - Stewardship

We have established the following restrictions in order to ensure that fiduciary responsibilities are being observed in your account:

We emphasize your unrestricted right to specify investment objectives, guidelines, and/or conditions on the overall management of your account. Associated persons or their immediate family members shall not buy or sell securities for their personal portfolio(s) where their decision is derived in whole or in part, by reason of the associated person's employment, unless the information is also available to the investing public on reasonable inquiry. No associated person of the firm shall prefer his or her own interest over your interest. Investment opportunities must be offered first to clients before we or our associated persons may participate in such transactions. We and our associated persons generally may not purchase and sell securities being considered for or held by you without pre-clearance from the Compliance Officer. We and our employees generally may not participate in private placements or initial public offerings (IPOs) without pre-clearance from our Compliance Officer. We require that all individuals must act in accordance with all applicable federal and state regulations governing registered investment advisory practices. Records will be maintained of all securities bought or sold by us, our associated persons, and related entities. A qualified representative of the firm will review these records on a regular basis. Any individual not in observance of the above may be subject to termination.

Our Code of Ethics is available to you upon request. You may obtain a copy of our Code of Ethics by contacting Jonathan C. Allen at (828) 268-9693.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Neither our firm nor any of our Associated Persons has any material financial interest in client transactions beyond the provision of investment advisory services as disclosed in this Brochure.

Personal Trading Practices

Our firm or persons associated with our firm may buy or sell securities for you at the same time we or persons associated with our firm buy or sell such securities for our own account. Our firm or persons associated with our firm may recommend securities to you at the same time we or persons associated with our firm purchase such securities for our own account.

A conflict of interest exists in such cases because we have the ability to trade ahead of you and potentially receive more favorable prices than you will receive. To eliminate this conflict of interest, it is our policy that neither our Associated Persons nor we shall have priority over your account in the purchase or sale of securities. We will place all employee trades at the end of the day.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

We recommend the brokerage services of Raymond James Financial Services and/or Raymond James (collectively "Raymond James") and custodial services of RJA. We believe that Raymond James provides quality execution services for you at competitive prices. Price is not the sole factor we consider in evaluating best execution. We consider the quality of the brokerage services provided by Raymond James along with the firm's reputation, execution capabilities, commission rates, reporting tools, and responsiveness to our clients and our firm. In recognition of the value of information services and additional management tools offered by Raymond James, you may pay higher commissions and/or trading costs than those that may be available elsewhere.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

We do not receive client referrals from broker-dealers.

Directed Brokerage

Persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm who are registered representatives of RJFS will recommend Raymond James to you for brokerage services. These individuals are subject to applicable rules that restrict them from conducting securities transactions away from Raymond James unless RJFS provides the representative with written authorization to do so. Therefore, these individuals are generally limited to conducting securities transactions through Raymond James.

It may be the case that Raymond James charges higher transactions costs and/or custodial fees than another broker charges for the same types of services. If transactions are executed through Raymond James, these individuals (in their separate capacities as registered representatives of RJFS) may earn commission-based compensation as result of placing the recommended securities transactions through Raymond James.

You may utilize the broker-dealer of your choice and have no obligation to purchase or sell securities through such broker as, we recommend. However, if you do not use Raymond James, we may not be able to accept your account. Please see the "Fees and Compensation" section in this Brochure for more information on the compensation received by registered representatives who are affiliated with our firm.

Block Trades

On occasion, we combine multiple orders for shares of the same securities purchased for advisory accounts we manage (this practice is commonly referred to as "block trading"). We will then distribute a portion of the shares to participating accounts in a fair and equitable manner. The distribution of the shares purchased is typically proportionate to the size of the account, but it is not based on account performance or the amount or structure of management fees. Subject to our discretion regarding factual and market conditions, when we combine orders, each participating account pays an average price per share for all transactions and pays a proportionate share of all transaction costs. Accounts owned by our firm or persons associated with our firm may participate in block trading with your accounts; however, they will not be given preferential treatment.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Jonathan C. Allen, Member/Chief Compliance Officer, Eric Franklin and Brad Greer, Investment Adviser Representatives of Allen Wealth Management, LLC, will monitor your accounts on a periodic basis and will conduct account reviews at least annually or more often based on your individual circumstances, to ensure the advisory services provided to you and that the portfolio mix are consistent with your current investment needs and objectives. Additional reviews may be conducted based on various circumstances, including, but not limited to contributions and withdrawals, market moving events, security specific events, and/or, changes in your risk/return objectives.

We will not provide you with additional or regular written reports in conjunction with account reviews. You will receive trade confirmations and monthly or quarterly statements from your account custodian(s).

Jonathan C. Allen, Member/Chief Compliance Officer, Eric Franklin and Brad Greer, Investment Adviser Representatives of Allen Wealth Management, LLC, will review your financial plan periodically upon your request to ensure that the planning advice and asset allocation recommendations made to you are consistent with your stated investment needs and objectives.

Written updates to the financial plan will not be provided in conjunction with the review. Such reviews and updates will be subject to our then current hourly rate. We will not provide regular written reports to you for financial planning and consulting services. If you implement investment advice through Raymond James & Associates, Inc., you will receive trade confirmations and statements no less than quarterly, from relevant custodians.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

From time to time we may receive compensation in the form of sponsorship fees for seminars, meetings or conferences from product sponsors such as limited partnerships, mutual funds, insurance companies and annuity sponsors. Such sponsorship fees generally entitle the sponsor to an allotted presentation to representatives of our firm.

As part of our fiduciary duties to clients, we endeavor at all times to put the interests of our advisory clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest.

As disclosed under the "Fees and Compensation" section in this Brochure, persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm are licensed insurance agents, and are registered representatives with RJFS. For information on the conflicts of interest this presents, and how we address these conflicts, please refer to the "Fees and Compensation" section.

Item 15 Custody

Your independent custodian will directly debit your account(s) for the payment of our advisory fees. This ability to deduct our advisory fees from your accounts causes our firm to exercise limited custody over your funds or securities. We do not have physical custody of any of your funds and/or securities. Your funds and securities will be held with a bank, broker-dealer, or other qualified custodian. You will receive account statements from the qualified custodian(s) holding your funds and securities at least quarterly. The account statements from your custodian(s) will indicate the amount of our advisory fees deducted from your account(s) each billing period. You should carefully review account statements for accuracy.

Standing Letter of Authorization

Our firm, or persons associated with our firm, may effect wire transfers from client accounts to one or more third parties designated, in writing, by the client without obtaining written client consent for each separate, individual transaction as long as the client has provided us with written authorization to do so. Such written authorization is known as a Standing Letter of Authorization. An adviser with authority to conduct such third party wire transfers has access to the client's assets, and therefore has custody of the client's assets in any related accounts.

However, we do not have to obtain a surprise annual audit, as we otherwise would be required to by reason of having custody, as long as we meet the following criteria:

1. You provide a written, signed instruction to the qualified custodian that includes the third party's name and address or account number at a custodian;
2. You authorize us in writing to direct transfers to the third party either on a specified schedule or from time to time;
3. Your qualified custodian verifies your authorization (e.g., signature review) and provides a transfer of funds notice to you promptly after each transfer;
4. You can terminate or change the instruction;
5. We have no authority or ability to designate or change the identity of the third party, the address, or any other information about the third party;
6. We maintain records showing that the third party is not a related party to us nor located at the same address as us; and
7. Your qualified custodian sends you, in writing, an initial notice confirming the instruction and an annual notice reconfirming the instruction.

We hereby confirm that we meet the above criteria.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Before we can buy or sell securities on your behalf, you must first sign our discretionary management agreement, and the appropriate trading authorization forms.

You may grant our firm discretion over the selection and amount of securities to be purchased or sold for your account(s) without obtaining your consent or approval prior to each transaction. You may specify investment objectives, guidelines, and/or impose certain conditions or investment parameters for your account(s). For example, you may specify that the investment in any particular stock or industry should not exceed specified percentages of the value of the portfolio and/or restrictions or prohibitions of transactions in the securities of a specific industry or security. Please refer to the Advisory Business section in this brochure for more information on our discretionary management services.

If you enter into non-discretionary arrangements with our firm, we will obtain your approval prior to the execution of any transactions for your account(s). You have an unrestricted right to decline to implement any advice provided by our firm on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

We will not vote proxies on behalf of your advisory accounts. At your request, we may offer you advice regarding corporate actions and the exercise of your proxy voting rights. If you own shares of common stock or mutual funds, you are responsible for exercising your right to vote as a shareholder.

In most cases, you will receive proxy materials directly from the account custodian. However, in the event we were to receive any written or electronic proxy materials, we would forward them directly to you by mail, unless you have authorized our firm to contact you by electronic mail, in which case, we would forward any electronic solicitation to vote proxies.

Item 18 Financial Information

We have not filed a bankruptcy petition at any time in the past ten years.

Item 19 Requirements for State Registered Investment Advisers

We are an SEC registered investment adviser; therefore, this section is not applicable.

Item 20 Additional Information

Your Privacy

We view protecting your private information as a top priority. Pursuant to applicable privacy requirements (including the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act), we have instituted policies and procedures to ensure that we keep your personal information private and secure.

We do not disclose any nonpublic personal information about you to any nonaffiliated third parties, except as permitted by law. In the course of servicing your account, we may share some information with our service providers, such as transfer agents, custodians, broker-dealers, accountants, consultants, and attorneys.

We restrict internal access to nonpublic personal information about you to employees who need that information in order to provide products or services to you. We maintain physical and procedural safeguards that comply with regulatory standards to guard your nonpublic personal information and to ensure our integrity and confidentiality. We will never sell information about you or your accounts to anyone. We do not share your information unless it is required to process a transaction, at your request, or required by law.

You will receive a copy of our privacy notice prior to or at the time you sign an advisory agreement with our firm. Thereafter, we will deliver a copy of the current privacy policy notice to you on an annual basis. Please contact Jonathan Allen, Chief Compliance Officer at (828) 268-9693 or at: jonathan@allenwealthmanagement.com if you have any questions regarding this policy.

Trade Errors

In the event a trading error occurs in your account, our policy is to restore your account to the position it should have been in had the trading error not occurred. Depending on the circumstances, corrective actions may include canceling the trade, adjusting an allocation, and/or reimbursing the account. If a trade error results in a profit, the custodian will keep the profit.

Class Action Lawsuits

We do not determine if securities held by you are the subject of a class action lawsuit or whether you are eligible to participate in class action settlements or litigation nor do we initiate or participate in litigation to recover damages on your behalf for injuries as a result of actions, misconduct, or negligence by issuers of securities held by you.
